

Materials to Be Included for Review of Furnished Record

Materials that should be provided for review include:

- o Daily values table for the water year
- o Hydrograph of daily discharge values
- o List of discharge measurements
- o Copies of discharge measurements
- o Log of visits
- o Primary computation sheets (hourly gage-heights, shifts, datum corrections)
- o Copy of any graphic record used for computation
- o New rating tables and new rating curves
- o Station analysis (explaining how and why ratings were changed, shifts, and datum corrections for the current water year)
- o A copy of the latest gaging station levels
- o Station description, updated annually as necessary, including:
 - o The surveyed elevation of at least three reference marks; and,
 - o A revised “Quality Assurance” section containing the information described below.

Questions about what should be included in the review package can be directed to the local USGS Field Office or the FERC coordinator.
